

Regional Counselor Special Interest Group Meeting at NACAC '21 in Seattle.

We are running our meeting(s) a little bit differently this year, so we wanted to let you know what to expect. Over the past few years, the Regional Counselor SIG has branched off into NARAC (National Association of Regional Admission Counselors) driven largely by a need for more time to meet than a one-hour SIG meeting at the annual NACAC conference. From 2012-2019, NARAC has met off-site on the Wednesday before the NACAC conference begins for a daylong meeting allowing us to talk in-depth about trends and best practices related to the field of regional admissions.

As we return to in-person conference opportunities in 2021, we wanted to balance our membership's interest in meeting in person with the current public health protocols in place locally. This year, instead of a daylong meeting, we have taken much of what we would normally discuss during that meeting and split it up across the 3 SIG meeting times NACAC has offered during the conference.

As a result, you will see that the Regional Admission Counselor SIG has 3 different meeting options listed and you are welcome to attend all 3 sessions or just 1 or anything in between. We've included the session topic offered at each session below to help with your planning. We recognize that non-regional admission counselors often attend our SIG meeting to learn more, and we welcome you to join us. If you are a regionally based representative interested in staying in touch with NARAC, we encourage you to complete our quick NARAC meeting registration form here.
